YAN Wai Yin Winnie's ACC New York Fellowship Experience

YAN Wai Yin, Winnie (ACC 2023) is a multi-disciplinary artist working across audio visual and print media. The New York Fellowship enabled her to further explore experimental filmmaking, and opened her up to new art horizons.

"I was pleasantly surprised to have visited so many places that were not on my planned list, and found a lot to learn from them," she says.

She was impressed with the range of cinemas and moving image institutions across the City, which in six months she got to know. Another highlight of her experience was the opportunity to attend lectures and performances with other ACC Fellows, taking their lead. "I would not have visited on my own. I would not have realized the exciting performing arts scene," she says.

At the beginning, it wasn't the easiest for Yan to navigate New York. She took some time to adjust to the city's distinct culture, its loudness, and its straightforward nature. "I guess initially I was a bit frustrated with the lack of connection with any communities... Yet there is a process of how one can absorb or learn from new place. Building communities is one approach, while mapping out places, and engaging in new conversations can also reconnect one with art," she says.
